BUILDING TABLES WHERE EVERYONE ALREADY HAS A SEAT

Hey, I'm Dynasti Hunt Harris.

I am a wife, mom, CEO of Tayden Impact Partners, and author sporting a handful of other “hats” and titles. I’m on a journey to create and shape leaders, teams, and organizations where “DEI” isn’t part of the conversation — because we’ve built tables where everyone already has a seat.

That means everything (and everyone) from the top down honors the importance of every voice, not as lip service or “in the name of diversity,” but because everyone’s perspective matters.

My years of educating, coaching, and consulting have taught me that everyone has a story, incredible skills, and a perspective to share.

My mission is to make sure we see that story in our everyday work, and that we leverage conversations, connections, and people in ways that honor the amazing things they bring to the table

Full Formal Bio

Dynasti Hunt Harris is an award-winning Organizational Talent, Culture and Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) Strategist committed to redesigning workplaces and teams with a DEI-centered lens.

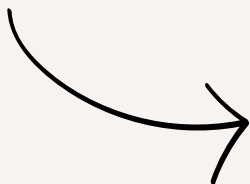

Dynasti’s work spans over 15 years of supporting CEOs, leaders, and executive leadership teams across the country in both the for-profit and non-profit sectors. Her ability to coach and shift teams in multiple areas and across multiple levels allows her to bring a unique lens to how leaders can grow both professionally and personally.

Dynasti founded Tayden Impact Partners, a consulting practice focused on helping mission-driven organizations increase their impact by embedding DEI practices into their strategy, culture, and operational experiences. Her work has expanded from its initial beginnings, leading DEI, Human Resources, and Talent Teams at the executive level and operating in senior positions across the K-12, Tech Start-Up, Retail, Philanthropy, and Non-Profit/Social Impact industries.

A 2023 Goldman Sachs Black Women in Business Honoree, Forbes DE&I 2.0 Member Leader, 2020 Top 100 HR Icons Award Winner, and Certified Diversity Executive Coach, Dynasti has a B.B.A. from Mercer University, an MBA from the University of Missouri, Kansas City, and a M.E.L. from The Board Center. Dynasti is also a Broad Residency Alum, Pahara Institute Next-Gen Alum, member of the national Forbes HR Council, and serves on the Board of Directors of The Women in Fitness Association (WIFA). Her work has been highlighted In Cosmopolitan, Fast Company, Forbes, and Well and Good.
